@Jackhanford cherry, watermelon, or strawberry? #2ndchat

08-Aug-12 23:58 | MrsMorgansClass

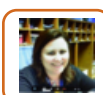

@MrsMorgansClass Cherry, I have never heard of watermelon flavored but that sounds great! #2ndchat

08-Aug-12 23:59 | Jackhanford

watermelon? They have watermelon? #2ndchat

08-Aug-12 23:59 | GeorgetteNairn

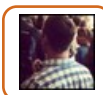

@Jackhanford the watermelon are green - I got them in a variety pack w/all 3 flavors. #2ndchat

09-Aug-12 00:19 | GeorgetteNairn

@Jackhanford yep but if I have to teach them, I can at least make them good activities rather than worksheets which most tchrs will #2ndchat

09-Aug-12 00:19 | missmac100

@MrsMorgansClass I am switching this yr from a Leveled library to Genre/Author based. Nervous but think it's the right direction. #2ndchat

09-Aug-12 00:20 | CourtneyM_Woods

@MrsMorgansClass I am not going to require my kids to stick with "their level". I want them to pick books they enjoy #2ndchat

09-Aug-12 00:20 | missmac100

@missmac100 I wont try to sell my edtech app, but in a less then a month your problem will be solved #2ndchat

09-Aug-12 00:20 | Jackhanford

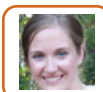

@missmac100 I'm going to use that this year! #2ndchat

@MrsMorgansClass less homework/ more activities on line #2ndchat

09-Aug-12 00:21 | NikiOhsBarnes

@CourtneyM_Woods maybe you never will have to hear about it #2ndchat

09-Aug-12 00:21 | missmac100

@MrsMorgansClass A1: To include the concepts of design thinking in the planning of units & for the kids to learn the same process. #2ndchat

09-Aug-12 00:21 | theASIDEblog

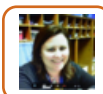

@CourtneyM_Woods yeah it would take a long time. :) #2ndchat

09-Aug-12 00:22 | missmac100

A1 - adding multiple intelligence into our beginning of the year conversation and trying to plan using Universal Design model. #2ndchat

09-Aug-12 00:25 | GeorgetteNairn

@Jackhanford I think all but four or five states haven't adopted the common core #2ndchat

09-Aug-12 00:25 | iHeartLiteracy

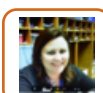

@missmac100 Daily 5 promotes 3 ways to read a book: read word, read pictures, retell - reading level doesn't matter. #d5chat #2ndchat

09-Aug-12 00:25 | MrsMorgansClass

@NikiOhsBarnes @Jackhanford @CourtneyM_Woods I think all but 4 states adopted them #2ndchat

09-Aug-12 00:25 | missmac100

@Jackhanford Texas doesn't use Common Core. #2ndchat

09-Aug-12 00:26 | MrsMorgansClass

@CourtneyM_Woods @MrsMorgansClass That is much better-easier for kids to see books they are interested in.
#2ndchat

09-Aug-12 00:26 | NikiOhsBarnes

@MrsMorgansClass I'm okay with them reading an easier book this year, even if it's not a "good fit" as long as they can enjoy it. #2ndchat

09-Aug-12 00:28 | missmac100

@MrsMorgansClass Biblionasium is free and I'm trying it out this year. :) #2ndchat

09-Aug-12 00:29 | missmac100

@Jackhanford @CourtneyM_Woods Right, and it requires a lot of energy on teachers to be creative to engage learners and meet the CC. #2ndchat

09-Aug-12 00:29 | theASIDEblog

@missmac100 I agree - and really its about reminding them about variety in reading. #2ndchat

09-Aug-12 00:29 | GeorgetteNairn

Visual thinking is at the top of our list as well as "doing" the learning. If they make it, they get the connections. #2ndchat #elemchat

09-Aug-12 00:30 | theASIDEblog

@GeorgetteNairn a "good fit" book is great for on level reading but sometimes you just want to read a funny book even if it's easy #2ndchat
